Community in a Time of Crisis: Banding Together

By: Suzanne Doiron

Few things are as amazing as the whole-hearted, loyal, and dedicated way a small town or city pulls together in a time of crisis. After a disaster, neighbors open their hearts and homes to those who have lost everything as well as donating time, belongings, and hard-earned money to helping their fellow townfolk get back on their feet. Businesses help businesses, and those from home and away visit and support local businesses by purchasing products and services they may have once gone elsewhere to procure.

On the evening of July 16th, a fire destroyed multiple buildings in beautiful, historic downtown Gardiner - a city that has worked hard for years to rebuild itself, and has seemingly managed to succeed, even in an unstable economy. In just a few short hours, multiple residents and new businesses lost everything they worked so hard to achieve. Local business owners have found themselves awestruck by the outpouring of support they have received from Gardiner residents, and city officials from neighboring communities, even just one day after the catastrophic event occurred.

You may regularly overlook the mission on the back of this publication, but I would like to draw your attention to it today. "The KV Chamber exists to enhance life quality by strengthening our regional economy." It is because of that mission that the chamber reaches out to those businesses in need, member or not, so that we can succeed on a local and regional level.

Belonging to a group like the Kennebec Valley Chamber of Commerce provides businesses with the opportunity to be a part of a greater community, one that strives to make our area a welcoming and fruitful place to open a business, no matter how big or small. A part of our Kennebec Valley community requires our help at this time. If you are interested in lending a hand, email us at info@augustamaine.com and we will put you in touch with those who are positioned to provide direct assistance. Please, take an afternoon to go to downtown Gardiner and support the businesses there – you will be glad you did!

What's Happening Downtown?

It's time for an update on what's happening in our downtowns. Steve Pecukonis is the Executive Director of the Augusta Downtown Alliance and facilitator of the Chamber's Kennebec Leadership Institute. Patrick Wright, Executive Director of Gardiner Main Street, is also the city of Gardiner's Economic Development Coordinator. Both cities are members of the national Main Street Center and the Maine Downtown Center.

Join us at our August breakfast, to learn about the past, present and future of these downtowns and why it's important to support the historical and cultural aspects of the downtown as a means to making a more vibrant community overall. How does a healthy downtown impact local economic development? Learn how downtown groups are successful and vital in saving communities from extinction. Patrick and Steve will answer all of your questions, and provide a unique perspective on how we all can work together to make these old gems sparkle once more. RSVP to: info@AugustaMaine.com.

Cynergy Spotlight: Katelyn Pushard

Katelyn Pushard is a woman of many different skills. While she has been working at the Children’s Center for the past 4 years, she has worked in several different roles, all of which she has loved. Growing up with lots of younger cousins, many hours of babysitting, and a volunteer position at the KVYMCA camp, Katelyn has always enjoyed working with children. She graduated from University of Maine Farmington with a degree in Special Education, which logically brought her to the Children’s Center where she started as a case manager, working directly with children and their families. After dabbling in several positions at the Center, Katelyn is now the Director of Development and Quality Improvement. While she finds herself working directly with children much less than before, she very much enjoys this other side of operations which is strictly organized, focused on making things more efficient, knowing the facts and understanding expectations.

Katelyn acknowledges that being a young professional certainly presents challenges. But in the end, the positives, like being able to connect with other people who are new to the field, and having an open mind and a fresh outlook, outweigh the challenges. Katelyn joined the Cynergy Steering committee in November of 2014 and has found it’s given her skills and confidence needed in her new development position and allowed her to better understand her community.

Interested in supporting The Children’s Center? The nonprofit is hosting its first annual Dinner & Auction on Saturday, August 29th at 5:00 p.m. at the Governor Hill Mansion. The event will be catered by the always delicious Liberal Cup with a live auction featuring Maine Humorist, Gary Crocker. Tickets are $40/person or $300/table. For more information, visit the Children’s Center online at childrenscenteraugusta.com and for reservations, call Katelyn at (207) 626-3497 ext 125.
